CRUSADE FOR FREEDOM GETS ROLLING HERE

Nevada county's Crusade for Freedom campaign, under the general chairmanship of Superior Judge James Snell, is underway this week in Nevada City, Grass Valley and Truckee. William Durbrow, Town Talk, is the general vice chairman.

The Crusade for Freedom was opened in San Francisco Monday at 11 a.m. with pealing of church and school bells, and is spreading throughout the U. S.

Under the general chairmanship of Lucius D. Clay, the Crusade for Freedom is a roll call of all Americans who love freedom to help lift the Iron Curtain everywhere on the face of the globe.

Judge Snell said participation is voluntary and entails but two activities — (1) signature of the Freedom Scrolls which are being circulated throughout Nevada county this week, and (2) backing up of your signature by a voluntary contribution to Radio Free Europe, the American people's broadcasting station in the western part of Germany that daily beams into the Iron Curtain. The station went on the air July 4 with Czech and Rumanian programs and features Polish, Hungarian and Bulgarian language programs.

Judge Snell announced the Crusade for Freedom committees as follows:

Grass Valley: C. R. Clinch, Roy Tremoureux, Gail Gordon, Guy Robinson, Rev. Frank Buck and Gil Cramer.

Nevada City: Fred F. Cassidy, Dr. Walter Hawkins, Frank G. Finnegan and Thomas H. Taylor.

Truckee: Walter Barrett, Walter Loynd, Eugene O'Rourke and Cecil Edmunds.

Gathering of financial returns for the purposes of the commitee and Radio Free Europe: John J. Fortier, Horace A. Curnow and Ray Scott.

Church participation: Rev. Buck.

Publicity: Robert T. Ingram, Ken Wray, Walter Barrett and Alvin Trivelpiece.

Judge Snell said that a strong committee of women with representation from all women's organizations in the county, will be formed to assist in obtaining the scroll signatures in downtown locations, schools, public gatherings and other points.

Every signature of the Freedom Scroll will be permanently enshrined in the base of the Freedom Bell in Berlin at dedication ceremonies, which will take place on United Nations Day, Tuesday, Oct. 24.

COMMITTEE OKAYS UNION HIGH SCHOOL

Nevada County Committee for School District Organization on Wednesday evening voted unanimously in favor of a union high school for western Nevada county, at a meeting held at Nevada City high school.

The proposed union district would include 18 school districts of the county with the exception on the part within the Tahoe-Truckee joint unified district at the eastern end of the county.

The augmented committee included an all-member committee plus representatives of all county school districts. Eight of the 11 committee members were present and 15 of the 18 districts were represented.

Motion for approval of the union high school plan was made by John Larue, member of the Nevada City unified school district board of trustees.

Following a series of public hearings in school districts in the county, the issue will be brought to the voters sometime after July 1, 1951.

William Wilson, principal of Grass Valley high school, pointed out that a union school would enlarge the curriculum currently available at Nevada City and Grass Valley high schools. He said such a school would offer machine shop courses, agricultural studies, printing, extended courses in the sciences and improved facilities for all students.

John Oakie of the Clear Creek district and chairman of the countywide committee presided.

ROUTINE BUSINESS ALTERS PATTERN OF NID BOARD MEETING

Routine business filled a quiet session of the board of directors of the Nevada Irrigation District Friday. The meeting was in direct contrast to recent stormy sessions that culminated in the firing of Manager Forrest Varney on Sept. 8.

Charles Law, hydrographer of the district, and who was named acting agent for the board the previous session was given a salary boost to $450 a month from a previous $300.

R. M. Smith, general superintendent, was boosted to $450 a month. Both increases were voted unanimously.

First matter of routine nature was a report that another cow had drowned trying to cross a cattle bridge in the mountain division.

A few complainants of assessments appeared before the board as protestants. Earlier complaints made the previous week were reviewed following investigation and in most cases were adjusted downwards.

The board authorized repairing of the D-S canal at an estimated cost of $18,000, of which $13,000 would be for guniting.

The directors also approved a lumber contract with Tahoe Sugar Pine company with a $7 rate in Grass Valley and $9 at Bowman.

Final subject of the session was the budget for next year.

IS A GUN LESS LETHAL THAN A CAR?

This is not a new idea but it is still a good one—

Prospective deer hunters before being issued a license and deer tags should be forced to take a strict test and administered a solemn oath before they are turned loose in forests they have never seen before with a lethal weapon they may have never used before.

Annually our forests are infested with a wave of pea green hunters who blaze away at waving leaves, snapping twigs, rabbits, parked jeeps, pack horses, and fellow hunters.

The annals of screw ball marksmanship would make humorous reading if it were not so serious. A few examples illustrate the point:

1. A hunter circled the mountain, returned to his own camp and shot his wife who was wearing a leather jacket which, he claimed made her look like a legal deer.
2. Another returned to camp and shot his pack horse.
3. There are many cases of a hunter being shot as he carried out his deer.
4. The mortality rate among deer dogs is very high. Any deer dog, it seems, bears a strong resemblance to a buck deer.
5. A hunter climbed a tree to get his bearings. He was shot by a man who claimed he was shooting squirrels.
6. A Modoc hunter was shot several years ago as he slept in an army sleeping bag which resembled, the shooter claimed, a reclining deer.
6. Black and white holstein dairy cows are fresuently mistaken for deer.
7. A coast range hunter told a game warden he had not had a good shot but had had two "sound" shots. Asked what he meant he said a "sound" shot was taken when you could hear a deer but could not see it.

The above examples are only a few. Veteran hunters could tell another hundred. In fact, there are few seasoned hunters who have not had a bullet ricochet off a nearby rock, or kick up dust a few feet away or knock the bark off a nearby tree.

Such cases are rated as near misses and do not appear in the official records.

There is no more reason why the state of California should issue a hunting license to an inexperienced person than a driver's license should be given to a person who had never seen or driven a car.

The deer hunting situation has become so dangerous that scores of fishermen, hikers, campers, picnickers and trail riders fold up their tents and get out of the forests the day before deer season opens.—at

You probably heard about the sot who came home and in his subconscious (?) groping about staggered into the shower stall, and in his thrashing about turned open the valve. The noise woke his ever-loving wife, who after taking in the circumstances started to call him every kind of a so-and-so, winding up with a non-too flattering estimate of his past, present and future. "Thash right," he admitted, "I'm everything you said. But let me in. It's raining something awful out here."

ONTROLS

One of our favorite scenes in the realm of motion pictures is that in which hundreds of beings pour from a tiny container.

Apparently the administration expects to cure the ills of the inflationary spiral in which we find ourselves by means of the tightening of economic controls of consumer buying as adopted last Monday. But it appears to be as logical as the exit of countless objects from a ridiculous container.

No control applies to outright necessities. How is the housewife, finding soap products boosted 7½ percent in wholesale costs, going to offset that because automobile buyers are going to have to pay off unpaid balances in 21 months instead of 30? How is the price of steak and potatoes going to be decreased because now you can't buy furniture with less than 10 percent down?

If the administration has the guts to slap price controls on essentials—on the things that American have to buy to live, it had better get around to doing the job before it is too late.

Credit buying has some influence on the economy but it isn't as real, immediate and direct as the greed of this and that group of manufacturers who are raising prices on essential products to the maximum the traffic will bear with no regard to any factor other than the desire to make a fat profit as quickly as possible.

There is only one way to stop basic inflation—the inflation that is making your dollar and mine worth less and less each day. The way is to tell the manufacturer, the distributor, the retailer that goods, food and clothing, and the like, cannot be sold for more than the highest price in the period immediately preceding the Korean conflict.

The comic cartoon way of trying to control without controls just won't work; it can't. A hundred big dogs just won't fit into a tiny dog house.

This country of ours is going to find itself in one of the nastiest economic messes it has ever known unless our government gets busy, and right now, to prevent wartime profiteering by preventing price increases from cutting the value of our dollars even lower than it is today.

The big boys never did like OPA but it saved the average little fellow, the same guy who needs help now.

The question isn't whether the job needs doing. It is whether the administration has the guts to control manufacturers' prices, and, at the same time, wages. We hate to think of what will happen if controls are too late in coming.

NOT OUR GYPSY

Gypsy Rose Lee, the young lady who made strip teasing an art, has been accused of Communist sympathies. Now, Communists usually work under cover but we doubt whether Miss Lee can be accused of operating that way. Whether or not Miss Lee has any Red sympathies we don't know but don't imagine that this unproved charges, as so many of these charges are, will make her any less popular with the public—particularly the men.

Not so fortunate, however, was Jean Muir, the prominent radio actress who recently lost her job because she was listed as a Communist sympathizer by a pamphlet published in the east. No proof was offered to substantiate the accusation and Miss Muir vehemently denied it.

But she lost her job anyway. In other words she, like many others so accused, is assumed to be guilty until proved innocent. That's the typical Communist attitude.

So, the accusers and the general public follow the Communist technique in dealing with persons accused of such affiliations. How long is this sort of thing to go on? How long shall irresponsible and loose spoken accusers be permitted to blacken the character of others and jeopardize their careers without providing a shred of evidence to substantiate their charges?

If the super-patriots detest Communism why do they adopt its methods? Public indifference to this practice is one of the gravest dangers in America today.

Many observers felt the government's attack upon bigness might have been stirred up by economic planners who want to scuttle our free enterprise system. The system encourages bigness but only if bigness can be more efficient than smallness and can win the approval of the consuming public without which, of course, no company can grow. If industries were to be broken up simply on the grounds of bigness, our advance as a nation would be seriously slowed down and our national security critically weakened.—Welch, Okla., Watchman.

Under the farm support program Uncle has to keep on buying products that are already running out of his ears . . . It costs the government billions to buy the stuff that nobody wants—at the prices being charged. Uncle buys it to keep the prices up so he and everybody else has to pay more. How crazy can we get?—Cypress, Calif., Enterprise.

OUR CONGRESSMAN REPORTS:

By CLAIR ENGLE

House Group Will Probe V. A. Program

A special nine-man committee of the house has been named to investigate the administration of the education and training of veterans under the G. I. bill of rights. I have been appointed a member of this special subcommittee. The purpose of the investigation is to determine how the educational program under the G. I. bill was carried out. This is important not only because ten and a half billion dollars of the taxpeyers' money was spent in this program, but because we will probably extend the program as the result of the active service of veterans in the Korean war.

Many Complaints

The operation of the G. I. education and training program under the G. I. bill of rights brought loud complaints from a great many of the schools, veterans, and veterans' organizations against the veterans administration. And, complaints were also registered by veterans' organizations and civic groups against some of the schools permitted to participate in the program which were obviously fly-by-night outfits. In addition, the charge has been made that many schools, some of them highly reputable, made unconscionable profits out of the G. I. educational program.

Pattern for Legislation

The special subcommittee appointed by the house will investigate all of these matters for the purpose of making a report to congress on what has actually transpired. As a result of the investigation and report, it is hoped that we will be able to profit in the future from the experience we have had under this type of legislation, which undoubtedly will be a model for treatment of veterans who have been deprived of normal educational opportunities in the Korean conflict or any subsequent ones in which we may be engaged.

Both the vetenrans' organizations and many of the educational schools themselves have indicated an intense interest in the establishment of this special committee, and the hearings which will be held. So far as I know, I will be the only congressman in the western U. S. designated to serve on it.

SCADDEN CALLS PROPOSITION ONE TO END PERSONAL PROPERTY TAX A SHAM TO HOODWINK THE PUBLIC

Proposition No. 1 on the Nov. 7 general election ballot, appears at first glance, a boon to non-property owners, but in reality is only a sham to hoodwink the public into believing it is a measure to help the fellow who owns no real property, declared Phil G. Scadden, Nevada county assessor, yesterday. Nothing is further from the truth he stated.

Proposition No. 1 will eliminate all personal property from taxation. In Nevada county, this would amount to a loss of assessed valuation on the public utility roll of approximately $3,000,000, or about one-third of their total assessed value, and a loss to the county assessment roll of $864,390 or approximately six percent of the county roll assessed valuation.

It is obvious, Scadden pointed out, that if this proposition becomes a law that the large public utilities will beneft by a decrease of 33 percent in assessed valuation, while the home owners, ranchers, businessmen and all owners of private property would only benefit by a reduction of six percent in the assessed valuation of their property.

The assessment roll in Nevada county, including utilities, as well as county assessments for the year 1950-51 is $25,181,090. The present base tax rate is $2.30. The average overall rate, including schools, fire, cemeteries and other taxes for the county is $3.43 on the $100 assessed valuation. On the basis of the 1950 assessment roll if proposition Number 1 becomes a law in November, the present county rate for 1950 would have been approximately $4.05 instead of $3.43; in other words, it would have been necessary to levy a rate sufficient to secure the same amount of taxes on an approximate $21,000,000 reduced valuation, as the county now received on the present $25,181,090 assessed valuation. The total overall loss in assessed valuation in Nevada county, Scadden added, would be 20 percent of the present valuation. These figures do not include the usual 10 percent allowance for deliquency.

"Do not let proposition Number 1 lull you into the belief that the elimination of personal property for purposes of taxation will reduce your taxes," Scadden warned. "The only taxpayers who will benefit from proposition number 1 are the public utility companies, large chain organizations, manufacturers' stocks and supplies; the livestock industries; equipment and appliance companies; the timber and lumber industries after the timber has been cut in the forests, and all other industries and individuals who do not own real property in the state of California."

"This is not a poor man's nor a private property owner's bill, but a bill solely for the benefit of the various industries listed above," Sadden asserted.

A study of the facts indicate that if proposition number 1 was passed in November, public utilities would be relieved of approximately forty percent of their tax payments to cities, counties, school districts, and the state on a state-wide basis, the Nevada county assessor pointed out.

"I honestly believe," Scadden said, "that proposition Number 1 is so dangerous to our tax structure and so discriminatory, unfair and unequitable and destructive to the future welfare of the property owners in the state of California, that I am sure that it is my duty to do everything possible to enlighten the taxpayers as to the facts outlined herewith."

The County Supervisors Association of California and the State Association of County Assessors have gone on record as 100 percent opposed to proposition No. 1.

Scadden and Assessor-Elect William L. Tamblyn and Mrs. Tamblyn will leave Sunday for Santa Cruz to attend the annual conference of the State Association of County Assessors. Proposition No. 1 will be a principal subject of the conference, according to Scadden.

The Tamblyns will return to Nevada City Wednesday evening, but Scadden plans to spend the balance of the week attending an Elks conference in Sacramento before returning home.

LUCKY BALDWIN ESTATE ON TAHOE OFFERED TO U. S. FOREST SERVICE

"Lucky" Baldwin's estate at Lake Tahoe, including beach front on Tahoe and Fallen Leaf lakes and most of the remaining virgin timber in Lake Tahoe basin, has been offered to the U. S. forest service in exchange for national forest timber on condition the land be devoted to non-commercial public use.

Millard M. Barnum, assistant regional forester, said the 2500-acre area extends from the south end of Lake Tahoe to Fallen Leaf lake, about one and one-half miles. It includes 6,500 feet shore line on Fallen Leaf lake and virgin forest with about 28 million board-feet of timber.

Both lakes are popular for boating swimming, fishing, and camping. The nearby Desolation Valley Wilderness Area in Eldorado national forest offers hiking, fishing and camping in the high Sierra.

Most of Lake Tahoe's shore line is privately owned, said Barnum, and only a few thousand feet of usuable shoreline is available for publis recreation. That is in Bliss State Park, Eldorado county public campground and a few small campgrounds maintained by the forest service. These are overcrowded in season.

The mining boom in old days took much timber from around Lake Tahoe. Elisia J. "Lucky" Baldwin opposed the heavy cutting, and purchased his land to save some of the virgin timber.

The price asked is $750,000, Barnum said, "The forest service does not have the funds for immediate purchase. However, under an act of congress we can exchange national forest timber to acquire this land. The Baldwin heirs and the Eldorado county supervisors have approved such a plan, and we are proceeding with the acquisition. We hope to have the land available for public use next summer."

The estate is one patented by Elisia J. "Lucky" Baldwin and owned for three generations by the Baldwin family. The Tallac hotel, built there by Lucky Baldwin, was an early day landmark. It was torn down by his daughter, Anita M. Baldwin, and since about 1924 the only use of the estate has been by the family and guests for summer vacation.

The family, in attempting to liquidate the holdings which include 6500 feet of beach on Lake Tahoe and 18,000 feet of shore line on Fallen Leaf lake, has been interested in having it put to public use.

Nevada City was twice incorporated, in 1853 and 1856.

DENIED DAMAGES

Merrill Lee Cummings was denied damages by a Nevada county superior court jury before Judge James Snell. Cummings filed action asking $26,250 damages from Mr. and Mrs. Carol E. Hoadley as the result of a two-car collision near Hobart Mills last summer.

TAXES LOST BY PROP. 1 WOULD FALL ELSEWHERE

"Nobody knows where the cost of Proposition No. 1 would fall, but if the assessors adopted the device of increasing valuations to meet the crisis which passage of the measure would cause, real property owners in Nevada county might face an increase of 28 percent in the assessed value of their property, "California Taxpayer's association said, urging defeat of Proposition No. 1 at the Nov. 7 election.

Proposition No. 1 proposes to exempt all personal property from taxation, the association explained.

San Francisco is the only city in the U. S. which includes an item in its tax rate for support of its symphony orchestra.

Trenton, capitol of New Jersey, is named after William Trent who bought the city's site in 1714.

Mrs. Glenna MacBoyle Marries Millionaire

Nevada county friends learned this week of the marriage in San Francisco Tuesday of Mrs. Errol MacBoyle, widow of the millionaire one-time owner of the Idaho-Maryland mine near Grass Valley, to Siegfried Bechhold, New York and Florida financier.

After a brief honeymoon, her friends said, the couple will divide their time between the San Francisco home of the bride and the east coast homes of Bechhold.

Bechhold is a native of Bavaria, He came to the U. S. in 1923, obtained his American citizenship in 1930 and launched a spectacular career as a financier and economist. He became vice president of A. ## Flower Arrangement Suggestions for Tomorrow's BPWC Silver Tea and Show

A few suggestions for the flower enthusiasts who plan to enter a flower arrangement tomorrow at the silver tea to be given in the beautiful gardens of the R. J. Bennetts' home on Broad street by the Nevada City Business and Professional Women's Club, are presented:

There is a basic seven-point placement which is broken into visual thirds. The flower on the extreme left is one-half the visual height of the top. The flower next to the last on the right, is one-half of the height of the one on the extreme left.

Flowers should not touch the edge of the bowl but should appear as though they were growing.

The holder should never show and flowers should be stripped below the water line.

Two stems should never cross each other.

The container must be in keeping with the flowers.

Dark colors should always be below, the light on top.

Driftwood, or unusual rocks give a dramatic touch to your arrangements.

As to the use of figurines, the saying is, "When in doubt, leave your figurine out."

For table arrangements, the centerpiece should be pleasing to the eye at all points and never so high that you cannot see your guest across the table when you are seated.

Foliage should never be higher than your flower arrangement as in doing this you lose the line.

The holder can be fastened tightly to your bowl by softening three small balls of modeling clay, by rolling them in the palms of your hands, attaching them to the underpart of the tray, then with a twisting motion, press diwn firmly to the bowl.

The height of your flower arrangement must be one and one-half times the width of the bowl. It may be taller but never less. The top must be on a straight line from the frog. Add to the depth of the container when measuring for heighth.

Marlene Lane Honored At Bridal Shower at James McClish Home

Mrs. James McClish and Mrs. William Crase of Nevada City honored their niece, Miss Marlene Lane, with a miscellaneous bridal show Tuesday evening at the McClish home.

Marlene and her twin sister, Laurene, are being extensively entertained, prior to their double wedding at the Grass Valley Methodist Church Sunday, Oct. 8.

The buffet table was a vision in pink, the heart shaped cake, ice cream and even the bread used in making the tiny sandwiches were tinted pink. The floral arrangement in the center of the table was very original. Composed mostly of pink asters, one side was built high to hold a silken spider web made of wires, on which were placed two imitation spiders. In the center were two cards with the names of Don and Marlene written on them, while nestling in the heart of the flowers rested a gold colored ring box dipslaying a jeweled wedding ring.

Most of the evening was spent playing bingo and fifteen lovely prizes were presented to guests who brought their luck with them. Marlene's grandmother, Mrs. L. E. Lane, won the door prize but her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Foster, took home a bingo prize.

Friends who were invited but unable to come and sent gifts, were Mrs. Coral Morton, Mrs. A. Lolmaugh, Mrs. F. Frey, Mrs. V. Cortez, Miss Eileen Hocking, Miss Mary Ann Shamberger, and Miss Barbara Allen.

Those attending included Mrs. C. Berryman, Mrs. C. V. Brown, Mrs. George Cooper, Mrs. Ed Clemo, Mrs. D. Bryant, Mrs. Elmer Stevens, Mrs. D. Holt, Mrs. Beatrice Butcher, Mrs. Oscar Shamberger, Mrs. William Lane, Mrs. Ann Jones, Mrs. Goldie Woods, Miss Laurene Lane, Mrs. B. Foster, Mrs. L. S. Fowler, Mrs. L. E. Lane and Mrs. T Thomas.

WATER USERS MAP PLANS FOR N. I. D. ELECTION

Members of the Nevada Irrigation District Water Users Association endorsed by signing a program offered by Max Arnold, H. J. Gleason and Herbert J. Nile, directors of the NID, at a meeting of the organization Friday evening at Seaman's Lodge, here.

Nile and Arnold face a recall election Tuesday, Oct. 3, precipitated by petitions circulated by the NID Land Owners Association following the firing of Forrest Varney, manager of the NID. The three directors were the majority members of the board in a three to two decision to oust the ex-manager.

The platform as endorsed by members of the association appears in this edition of The Nugget as a paid advertisement.

William Vogt, president of the NID Water Users Association, conducted the meeting, and preceded the meeting with a minute of silence in memory of Warren Odell, a member of the organization, and chairman of the board of supervisors of Nevada county at the time of his death Sept. 10.

Nile was called upon to speak first and pointed out that now the directors had a chance to run the district, a chance they had never previously had. Nile said "those who prophesied calamity will be the saddest persons in the district when nothing of the sort occurs. Nile said the board of directors would not hurt the district.

Gleason, director from the Rough and Ready district, stated Varney was just a $9,000 go-between the departments and the directors. Gleason pointed out that when he entered the board three directors wanted no change urging him not to "upset the applecart."

Gleason said the Landowners Association has gone "underground" holding no public meetings and is spearheaded by the same three men who were against the discharge of William Durbrow three years ago.

Gleason concluded with "We should have no manager. Forget the job of manager and have the board of directors operate the district."

A. B. Snyder reviewed the controversial Camp Far West ditch, and concluded with "I've known Herb Nile for fifty years. I know he would do nothing to hurt the NID. The old directors were rubber stamps for the manager."

Ted Tschopp opened his remarks with a rebuttal to a Land Owners Association charge the Water Users group was causing inefficiency through disunity, by pointing out there was unity under Durbrow and the district went into debt. "The lack of harmony shows that someone on the board is thinking," Tschopp declared.

He reported that several hours of searching NID records about the redwood lumber deal of 1948 showed the records in great disorder, with the district apparently $600 to the good in a checkup of invoices and bills.

A. P. Falltrick, Newcastle, asserted the redwood obtained in the deal was inferior quality.

Arnold stated the Friday morning meeting of the NID board of directors was smoother and more practical and the board was better informed than in previous sessions. He cited several items of which he accused Varney of inefficiency in handling.

Charles Kitts, chairman of the Nevada county grand jury committee investigating the NID, related the grand jury is investigating the district and is not concerned about Varney. Kitts said, "Varney is not liable but that members of the board of directors are liable for Varney's actions as manager. The grand jury is trying to find out how the district got into its present condition. Varney is not being investigated."

Kitts denied he was a tool of the Water Users Association and suggested Varney's backers were probably politically maneuvering when they accused Kitts of abusing his position as a grand jury member.

He added all records of the lumber deal have been subpenaed by the grand jury.

Don Gates commented "If anyone has mired Varney's reputation it has been the Land Owners Association."

Chester Loney declared "It is a shame to kick a man of Nile's caliber around."

The organization met again at LeBarr Meadows hall last night, but it continued beyond press time of The Nugget.

TAXPAYERS COMMITTEE For an Efficient Nevada Irrigation District

NEVADA CITY, CALIFORNIA

September 14, 1950.

Dear Voter:

We are the owners of many acres in the Nevada Irrigation District. Its efficient management is of the most vital concern to us. If it fails, we fail with it. Its rising costs, both in water and taxes, can destroy us if allowed to continue. The present plight of the N. I. D., we believe, is the result of inefficiency of management.

There is now a majority of the Board of Directors, who are willing to work in the interest of all, with no added pay above the regular $12.00 per meeting allowance and devote their own time and ability to the supervision of the district.

We know that they are good men and believe that they can do the job.

We ask your united support behind Max Arnold and Herbert J. Nile for an honest, efficient administration of the Nevada Irrigation District.

Directors Arnold, Nile, and their majority associate, H. J. Gleason, have made a solemn covenant to inaugurate a program, contingent on the expression of confidence on the part of the voters on Tuesday, October 3rd, 1950, which follows:

(1) The organization of the N. I. D. shall be departments: Business Administration, Construction and Maintenance, and Engineering.

A business manager will be chosen to supervise the office and administration affairs.

Construction and Maintenance will be under the direction of a General Superintendent over all divisions.

Engineering problems will be under the direction of the District Engineer and his staff.

(2) The Directors will hold meetings weekly and will confer where and if necessary with all department heads, and also the Auditor-Treasurer.

(3) The Directors propose to put into effect immediately, measures of economy which will not interfere with the necessary maintenance of the district facilities. Further, to assist in the organization of standing commttees, chosen by the voters of each district, to meet with the board on an advisory capacity. Lastly, to reduce as promptly as possible the present five percent assessment. For the present no large expansion of plant or distributing facilities can be foreseen except in the case of Improvement Districts to be paid for from water charges spread not over 10 years, or by cash and or labor done by the interested parties to be credited against their water charges. Each case will be considered on its merits.

(4) The Directors relations with the employees of the district will be founded on justice and the merit of the individual, without consideration of race, color, creed, organization or political association.

We, the undersigned Taxpayers approve the platform and promises of the above directors and they will receive our fullest cooperation.

Looking for a Money Saver?

Better Buy Buick!

YOU CAN SEE here how smart it is—don't have to be told that it's the most quickly identified car on the road today.

You probably know that the engine under that broad bonnet is a Fireball straight-eight valve-in-head engine and a lively stepper in any company.

You can check the abundance of its room by the simple expedient of taking the family and trying out its spaciousness at the nearest Buick dealer's—and a very few minutes on the open road will satisfy you that all-coil springing, low-pressure tires and Buick's torque-tube drive really do produce a ride that is matchless for its soft comfort.

BUT RIGHT NOW, it may be that the money angle is the thing uppermost in your mind, and on that we'd like to make two points:

All our records go to show that this is the most economical Buick ever built. It is easy on gas, on oil, on tires, on upkeep.

And if you choose it with Dynaflow Drive,* it immediately eliminates all chance of friction-clutch repair and replacement—not to mention greatly reducing rear-axle and transmission maintenance.

Best of all, your initial outlay is a highly favorable one—whatever Buick you buy. For these brawny straight-eights — built rugged and solid for durable service — are priced at a level that makes them a standout buy in any price class.

Yes, better buy a Buick. Your dealer will be glad to demonstrate, glad to work out all the arithmetic of a deal. See him right away and get an order signed.

FOUR-WAY FOREFRONT—This rugged front end (1) sets the style note, (2) saves on repair costs—vertical bars are individually replaceable, (3) avoids "locking horns," (4) makes parking and garaging easier.

*Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on SUPER and SPECIAL models.

YELLOWJACKETS OPEN SEASON TONIGHT IN GRIDLEY UNDER LIGHTS

Coaches Thomas Nelson and Bob Bonner will give their varsity and junior varsity grid teams their first official workouts of the season at Gridley tonight against the tough Colusa county squads.

Coach Bonner is definitely set on a starting lineup for the Bee fracas as 6:15 p.m. but Coach Nelson is leaving the gate open for possible last minute changes and adjustments.

Experienced lads from the 1949 squad who will see lots of service in the front wall tonight are Gordon Lageson, center; Doug Atkins, left end; Bill Beverage, tackle, and Melo Pello and Kent Walker, guards.

Expected to perform capably in the backfield will be Dean Morrison, starter of the '49 squad; Henry Scribner, David Mott, Bob Pohley and Chuck Degraffenreid.

The Gridley squad is coached by Jack Lapsys, who tutored the Marysville preps to a co-championship last year.

Coach Bonner's Bee starters will be Ray Kirk and Don Boucher, ends; Grant Hefelfinger and Tiny Tanner, tackles; Wayne Whitlock and Gary Weldon, guards, and Dick Mooers, center. In the backfield will be Bruce Walker, quarterback; Bill Behrbaum, right half; Ernie Pello, fullback, and Bill Sturtevant or Steve Pieser, left halfback.

RESTRICTIONS EASED IN 1950 WATERFOWL HUNTING REGULATIONS

Waterfowl hunting regulations for 1950 season in the California and Pacific flyway will allow a slightly longer season and higher daily duck limit, according to an announcement by the U. S. fish and wildlife service.

Although the Californi fish and game commission joined the duck hunters organizations of California in asking for higher combination limits, the federal service set a daily bag and possession limit of six ducks. The 1949 daily bag limit was five ducks, with a possession limit of ten.

The 44-day split hunting season was set between Oct. 20 and Nov. 10, and from Dec. 15 to Jan. 5. Along the Colorado river, a continuous season was prescribed between Nov. 12 and Jan. 5.

On the opening day of each season, shooting begins at noon, ending one hour before sunset. For the remainder of each season, firing will start one-half hour before sunrise.

The 1950 bag and possession limits as announced from Washington: ducks, six daily and in possession, but no more than one wood duck; geese, six daily and in possession in any combination not exceeding two Canada geese or its subspecies, white-fronted geese, or brant; mudhens, 15 daily and in possession; American and red-breasted mergansers, 25 daily.

No open season was set for Ross geese or shore birds.

Previous restrictions against repeating or automatic shotguns capable of holding more than three shells remain in effect.

Shooting over live decoys or baited waters is also prohibited.

PORCUPINES AGAIN PLACED ON OUTLAW STATUS BY FOREST MEN

"Porky" the porcupine, was declared again this year to be a renegade of the wilderness, and the U. S. forest service asked hunters and other forest travelers to "shoot him on sight."

He is accused of murdering or maiming many young pine trees, in one of his worst rampages in recent years in California. He climbs to tree tips and eats the tender bark, thereby killing or deforming the trees.

Rangers in some forests are toting .22-caliber rifles and using them when they catch "Porky" stripping a tree.

"The porcupine population has increased tremendously, especially in northeastern California," says James Averell of the forest service regional headquarters in San Francisco. "They have killed or deformed thousands of young pine trees and are causing a heavy loss in commercial timber and scenic values.

"Contrary to folklore, porcupines are not protected by game laws. They are destructive rodents. They should not be spared as possible food for people lost in snowstorms, because porcupines don't cooperate that way; when snow gets deep they hide out in rocky dens."

Averell had these tips for hunters who'll help in the campaign:

Use .22-caliber long-rifle hollow-nosed bullets. Aim for the head (usually the "end" farthest from the tree trunk). Look as trees silhoutetted by the sun; "Porky" will loom up as a dark bulge on a limb. He is often seen at sundown in pine stands bordering mountain roads, grassy meadows and stream banks.

TAHOE MECHANIC LEADS DEER HUNTERS WITH HIGH-POINT BUCK

A 180-pound buck with 14 points on one side and 12 on the other side, shot Saturday morning in the Cisco area by Joseph C. Forstner, Nevada City, leads among the reported bucks of this area.

Forstner, a mechanic at the Tahoe National Forest warehouse here, said the group he was with killed five deer over the weekend.

Tagging officials report this year's kill is considerably less than last year and attribute it to a scattering of herds because of better feeding conditions.

The best hunting areas of Nevada county were the range district below Grass Valley and the high country around Truckee.

TAX RELIEF FOR VETS $499,668,331 IN STATE

Tax exempt holdings of veterans accounted for $499,668,331 of a total of $654,137,757 assessed value of tax-exempt holdings in California, according to figures released by Jerrold Seawell, third district member of the board of equalization.

Nevada county had 1,151 properties exempt from taxation with an assessed value of $1,141,030. The number and value of these exemptions by type of property were as follows: church 23, $132,880; welfare, four, $18,030; and veterans, 1,124, $990,120.

These exemptions do not include publicly owned properties, the first $100 of each householder's personal property, growing crops, museums, and other constitutional exemptions.

LIQUOR SALES ALMOST DOUBLE DURING YEAR

Alcoholic beverage excise tax collections on July wholesale trade zoomed to $2,272,668—84.4 percent over collections a year ago, according to Jerrold L. Seawell, third district member of the state board of equalization.

Seawell pointed out that inventory buying of straight whiskey was largely responsible for pushing July taxable sales of distilled spirits to 2,346,000 gallons — an increase of one and one-quarter million gallons over July, 1949, distribution.

Wholesalers moved a record total of 17,322,732 gallons of beer in July.

BUILDING PERMITS

Willard L. Smith, Lafayette, $5,000 frame home, Sunset View, west of Grass Valley.

SOCIAL SECURITY IS LIBERALIZED; STATE BENEFITS UNCHANGED

Federal social security checks received soon after Oct. 1 by several hundred persons in Nevada county will be much larger than in the past, according to George Lowry, director of Nevada county welfare department.

This increase is the result of a recent amendment to the federal social security act, which becomes effective Oct. 1. In addition to increasing the monthly payments up to as much as 100 percent for some persons, the change in the law will permit those between 65 and 75 years of age to earn up to $50 per month, without loss of their social security checks, and for those over 75 years of age, there will be no limit to the amount they may earn.

Prior to the effective date anyone who earned $15 or more per month in employment covered by the social security act was not eligible to receive a social security check for that month.

Although the amended law permits additional exempt income for those who receive social security benefits, there has been no change in the law regarding old age security, aid to needy blind, and aid to needy children, as administere by the county welfare departments.

The amounts paid to recipients under these programs is determined by computing their total living expenses and subtracting the amount of their incomes from all sources. The remainder is the amount paid by the county welfare department, up to a maximum of $75 for old age security, and $85 for aid to needy blind.

In aid to needy children, the amount paid is on the basis of actual budgeted living expenses, but not to exceed $88.50 for one or two parents and one child (family of two, or sometimes three persons). If there are two children any amount actually required may be paid, but not over $136.50. These limits for children will be increased by $16.50 federal money beginning Oct. 1.

The increased social security benefits will be deducted as income by the county welfare department, effective Oct. 1, materially reducing the total monthly payments made through that office.

Until Oct. 1, persons 65 years and over must have worked in employment covered by the social security act for a minimum of ten years total, but on Oct. 1 this minimum will be reduced to six calendar quarters.

For this reason, many persons who have not been eligible to receive social security benefits will now be eligible if they make application.

As these benefits are awarded, the monthly payments made by the county welfare department will be further reduced, since many are now receiving payment through that office.

Anyone who receives payment through the county welfare department, and becomes eligible for social security benefits should report promptly the amount of the award so that it will not become necessary to repay to the county welfare department at a later date the amount of any overpayment resulting from the social security income.
